

Translating Myth

An international conference organised by the Centre for Myth Studies, University of Essex, UK

5 – 7 September 2013
firstsite, Colchester, UK

Krishna playing the flute to the gopis. Opaque watercolour on paper. Jaipur, India, 1840. © Victoria and Albert Museum, London

Plenary speakers

David Hawkes (Arizona State University), "I think Hell's a Fable": Literalism and the Death of the Soul

Miriam Leonard (UCL), Tragedy, Myth and the Intrusion of History: Carl Schmitt's Hamlet or Hecuba

Harish Trivedi (University of Delhi), Indian Myth: Postcolonial Translation

Distinguished Bean Trust Lecturer

Sheila Spector (Independent Scholar), The Evolution of Blake's Myth: Urizen's Multiple Identities

For further details about this conference and to register, go to: www.essex.ac.uk/lifts/dept/aboutMythStudies.aspx
Please address all enquiries to: mythic@essex.ac.uk

Supported by: Department of Literature, Film, and Theatre Studies, Centre for Psychoanalytic Studies, and The Bean Trust